ASU'S VISION, MISSION, OBJECTIVES AND VALUES

VISION

The vision of Applied Science University is to be one of the leading private Universities supporting practical learning and scientific research in Bahrain and the Gulf.

MISSION

“ASU is committed to offering an education that is accessible to academically competent students of Bahrain, the Gulf and beyond, and to deliver academic programmes of quality that graduate students equipped with knowledge and skills relevant locally and regionally. ASU is further dedicated to the promotion of a culture of learning and scientific research for its students, staff and faculty regionally and globally to engage meaningfully with the community at large.”

OBJECTIVES

- To assume social responsibility and to serve the local and regional community.
- To further enhance scientific research standards in all fields of knowledge.
- To offer new specialisations to meet the market demands.
- To keep abreast of scientific developments and to provide all the means of academic success.

VALUES

- Integrity: ASU's community values honesty, fairness and academic integrity as fundamental to its vision and mission. It recognises, affirms and upholds this value in a responsible and committed manner.
- Collaboration and Team Spirit: ASU's community recognises collaboration and team spirit to be at the heart of the institutional culture and to promote these values in a dedicated manner.
- Loyalty: ASU's students, faculty and staff cherish loyalty, commitment and recognise these values to be part of their culture of cooperation and dedication.

- Social Responsiveness and Community Engagement: ASU's students, faculty and staff value their allies, networks and communities and intend to engage with them, in a thoughtful, respectful, responsible and meaningful manner.
- Quality: ASU's community values, quality as an ideal standard that should characterise its processes, outcomes, people and partners.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT STRATEGIC OBJECTIVE

Ensure that ASU is committed to creating an impact on society through all activities, recognising its duty to ensure that students, alumni and staff understand their obligations as citizens to engage with and support the community.

Message from the Chairman of the Board of Trustees

Welcome to Applied Science University's Community Engagement Booklet for the academic year 2019/2020.

This was a year that would go down in the history books as the year of the Covid-19 Pandemic. Community Engagement took a whole other meaning for us during this year. The University was not only required to take the right measures to ensure both the safety of its staff and students and the continuity of the educational process online, but it was called upon to help the society and alleviate the impact of the pandemic on our community.

Hopefully, we answered the call. Indeed, ASU increased the amount of the Student Aid Fund by 100,000 BHD for the Second and Summer Semesters 2019/2020 in order to help students who were struggling financially. In addition, ASU allowed more flexibility in the payment of fees for additional 3 months. What's more, the University made a generous donation of 30,000 BHD to the campaign "Feena Kheir". This national fund is dedicated to help Bahrainis who were impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic and is intended to help the national economy recover as soon as possible.

Also, the University pursued most of its planned Community Engagement activities online whenever possible, so we are pleased to confirm that the Covid-19 pandemic had no impact on our commitment to Community Service.

Finally, it is worth noting that the University was honored by His Excellency Mr. Jameel bin Mohammed Ali Hamaidan, the Minister of Labour and Social Development, for supporting an online platform system to train Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs) remotely on financial management, and we are particularly proud of this achievement because we believe the platform will have meaningful impact on the community.

The Community Engagement Booklet for the academic year 2019/2020 presents the highlights and key activities undertaken by the University to serve our community and give back to our beloved nation, and I sincerely hope you will enjoy reading it.

Warm Regards,

Prof. Waheeb Ahmed Al Khaja

Chairman of the Board of Trustees

Message from the President

Welcome to the annual booklet for community engagement activities at Applied Science University for the academic year 2019/2020.

Community Engagement is one of the three strategic pillars of ASU, alongside Teaching & Learning and Research. From its inception, the University gave utmost importance to community service and social responsibility because we strongly believe that higher education institutions have a major role to play in lifting up communities, giving back to societies, and empowering both individuals and collectivities. This is also perfectly in line with our “Graduate Attributes” as we aim to graduate students who are “ethically and socially responsible, understanding their social responsibility and good citizenship, and engaging with their community”.

In the face of Covid-19 pandemic, our commitment to community engagement has not faltered, nor did we alter our plans. We rather adapted to the “new normal” by moving most of our activities online, just like we did with our teaching and learning activities. If anything, the pandemic brought about more solidarity within our society, made people come together to help each other, and strengthened the feelings and values of unity and altruism among the Bahraini people.

I must admit though that 2019/2020 was a challenging year, but also a rewarding one, where the University achieved many accomplishments on various fronts, including community engagement. In fact, the University was honored by His Excellency Mr. Jameel bin Mohammed Ali Hamaidan, the Minister of Labour and Social Development, for its contribution to an online platform supporting Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs). I am also particularly proud of the University's generous donation of 30,000 BHD to the campaign "Feena Kheir" through its Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Professor Waheeb Alkhaja, whom I take this opportunity to thank and praise for his grand vision and strong commitment and support to all community engagement activities at the University.

I also take this opportunity to thank Dr. Mohammed Yousif, Vice President for Administration, Finance and Community Engagement, and Dr. Mohammad Al-Hamami, Office Manager of Community Engagement, for their tireless efforts to implement the planned community engagement activities despite the hurdles and challenges of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Please keep reading to learn more about our community engagement activities for the academic year 2019/2020 as they are detailed in this booklet, and I do hope that you find it inspiring.

Happy reading.

Prof. Ghassan Fouad Aouad

President of the University

Message from the VP for Administration, Finance and Community Engagement

Welcome to Applied Science University's Community Engagement Booklet for the academic year 2019/2020.

It is my great pleasure to be introducing ASU's Community Engagement Booklet for the Academic Year 2019/2020. I hope you enjoy reading it and hope you benefit from knowing how to engage and serve the community yourself. Despite the challenges imposed by the Covid 19 pandemic, our response was to remain committed to serving our community, students and our staff. At this time, our team at the Community Engagement Office is proactively pivoting its efforts toward online engagement to ensure that the office activities are sustainable for both students and community. The Community Engagement Office at ASU has initiated many successful activities throughout the year taking advantage of the technological advancement within the university that enabled the office outreach the community.

It is also important to highlight that Community Engagement is one of the three strategic pillars of ASU, alongside Teaching & Learning and Research which is also evident by the university strong belief in lifting up the society through the activities initiated by the office.

I also take this opportunity to thank Prof. Ghassan Aouad, the university President, and Prof. Waheeb AlKhaja, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, for their support to the office.

Best wishes,

Dr. Mohammed Yousif

VP for Administration, Finance and Community Engagement

Message from the Manager of Community Engagement Office

Dear Readers and Students,

Community engagement is a top priority for ASU, it is a strategic objective, and it has been included in the University mission and considered one of the most important University values. Community engagement is incorporated into all aspects of ASU. Through its different colleges and units, the University works in conjunction with many societies, NGOs, and companies to give its services to the community. Deanships, departments and different organisational units contribute to serving this noble cause. The community engagement college members are driven to bridge our teaching and learning process with the community. The students are the main factor of these events, and our staff are keen to make the community a focal point for development and flourishing.

The Community Engagement Office's strategic objective is to ensure that the office is committed to creating an impact on society. Recognise that it has a duty to its students, alumni, and staff to ensure that they understand their obligations as citizens in engaging and supporting their community. The office's strategic objective can be reached by achieving the following key priorities: Consultancy and Advisory and Knowledge Sharing, Community Support, Open Campus, and Public Outreach.

Best wishes,
Dr. Mohammad Alaa Hussain Al-Hamami
Manager of Community Engagement Office

ASU's delegation consisted of Professor Waheeb Al Khaja (the Chairman of ASU's Board of Trustees), Professor Ghassan Aouad (ASU's President), Mr Abdulla Al Khaja (Director of Administration and Finance) and Ms Catherine Hogan (Head of International Partnerships). The ASU delegation had fruitful meetings with the Vice-Chancellor of LSBU Professor David Phoenix, the Deputy Vice-Chancellor Professor Paul Ivey and many other senior colleagues. The discussions spanned institutional and national updates, partnership management and collaboration on academic degrees, joint research and staff development activities. The ASU and LSBU partnership was established in 2014 and covered a range of activities. In September 2017, the first students were admitted to the LSBU degrees hosted at ASU (in Architectural Design Engineering and Civil and Construction Engineering). Several more degrees are planned to open in September 2020. On the research side, ASU faculty collaborate with LSBU faculty on joint research projects relevant to Bahrain's national priority for renewal energy solutions (one on the relationship between roof shapes, energy consumption and thermal comfort and the other on integrating wind turbines in the built environment). Staff development activities include leadership development, teaching strategies in Higher Education and other topics designed to enhance the student experience. Future plans for the partnership include summer schools, study abroad schemes for students and staff exchange schemes. ASU and LSBU are also construction engineering their second international research conference - the International Conference on Innovation, Technology, Enterprise and Entrepreneurship will be held in Bahrain on November 24th and 25th, 2019. ASU has recently been awarded Accreditation by Bahrain's Higher Education Council and its courses have achieved confidence status from Bahrain's Quality Assurance Authority. In international rankings, ASU has reached #45 in the QS Arab Region University Rankings 2019; the 301+ category of the University Impact Rankings 2019; and the 601+ category (and #25 in Arab region) in the UI GreenMetric World University Ranking 2018 – all three are the highest placing among Bahrain's private Universities in all the rankings. HEA Fellowships have now been awarded to 53 of our staff in recognition of professional standards in supporting student learning. In addition, ASU's students won University Company of the Year in the Young Entrepreneurs Competition 2019, organised

36. In Local Newspapers: Achieving the BQA Institutional Review and Retains its ISO 9001:2015 Certification

Gulf Daily News and Daily Tribune Newspapers published articles about ASU achievement of the BQA Institutional Review and Retaining its ISO 9001:2015 Certification:

On April 21st, 2020, ASU passed the second surveillance audit for its quality management system and successfully retained its ISO 9001:2015 Certification to provide administrative support for its students. The 2nd Surveillance Audit comes about two years after the University first achieved the ISO 9001:2015 Certification back in 2018 and one year after it successfully passed its 1st Surveillance Audit.

The Surveillance Audits are meant to verify that all the measures taken to install a robust Quality Management System are still in place, properly implemented and monitored, and are effectively leading to continuous improvement.

The External Audit was performed by a Senior External Auditor appointed by RICl, the IRCA (UK) Approved Certification Body that inspected the University and granted it the certification in the first place.

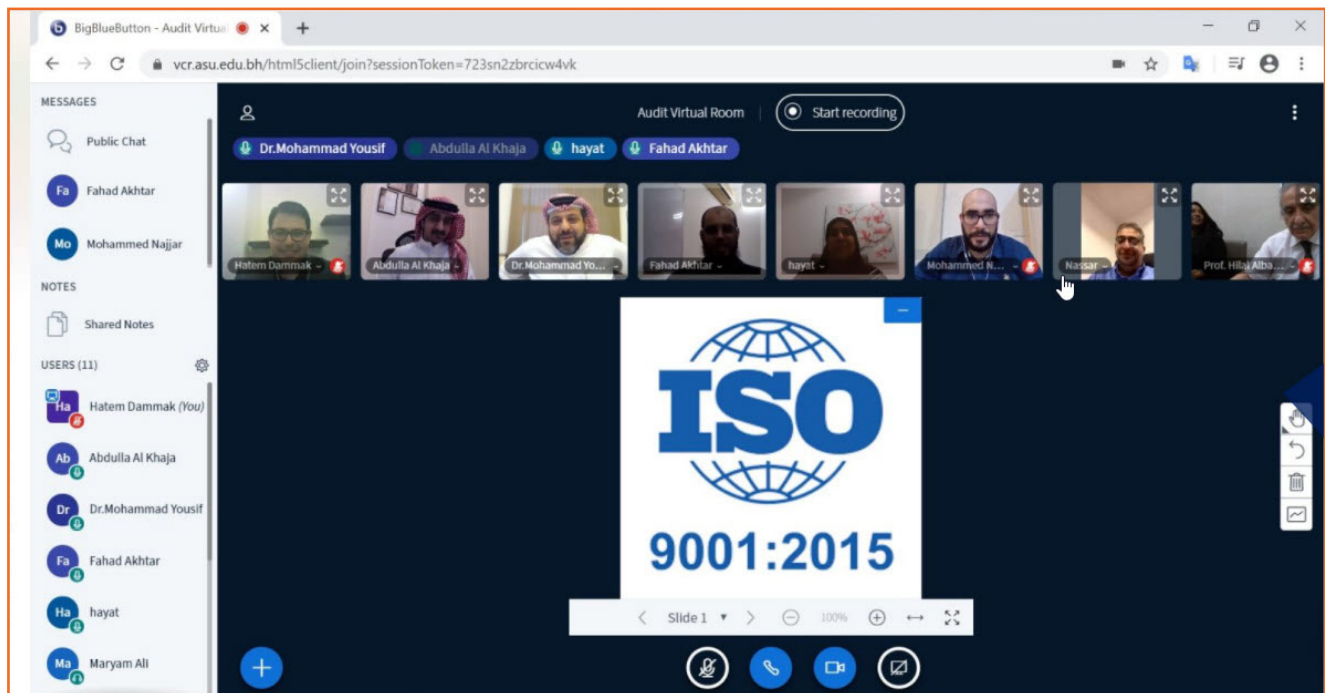

This year, the External Audit was conducted virtually through a purpose-built virtual audit room. It consisted of live interviews with the selected departments and to documents' inspection based on sampling and audit trailing techniques.

After an opening meeting chaired by the VP for Administration, Finance and Community Engagement with the External Auditor and all the Heads of Departments selected for the External Surveillance Audit, the External Auditor started conducting his virtual interviews with the top management and the departments chosen as per the scheduled plan, including the QAAC, the HR Department, the Deanship of Student Affairs, and examining various documentation related to these departments and other departments such as the Marketing and Public Relations Directorate.

The technology deployed by the University allowed the external auditor to conduct his mission very smoothly, and he was delighted with the way things were run. He finally held a closing meeting at the end of the day to thank everyone for their valuable cooperation and confirmed that after his day-long audit activities, he concluded that the quality management system installed two years ago as per the ISO 9001:2015 standard is properly up and running and therefore, he recommends the University to keep its certification. The attendees cheered for this great news and thanked him for his fine work and professionalism and took a virtual group photo.

This achievement comes as yet another testimonial of the University's strong commitment to achieving high-quality standards, achieving continuous improvement, and above all, achieving student satisfaction.

Next year, the University will be subject to a re-certification process, which means all the departments within the scope of the ISO 9001:2015 Certification will be audited again.

Applied Science University “ASU” adopted a vision to become a distinguished international University in teaching quality, scientific research, and academic excellence. In doing so, its numerous achievements at the local, Arab and international level has now seen the University achieve an advanced position in the QS World University Ranking 2021. ASU is ranked 651-700 among the top 1000 out of 5500 Universities in the world; thus, becoming the First Private University in the Kingdom of Bahrain to achieve this advanced position and making it one of the best Universities in the world.

ASU is the First Private University in the Kingdom, in terms of global ranking, to be placed alongside other world-class Universities. This accolade has been awarded by the QS World University Rankings. QS World University Rankings is an Annual Publication of University Rankings by Quacquarelli Symonds (QS), and it is one of the world’s most distinguished University Ranking Organisations.

ASU has occupied this advanced position in the QS Rankings for the second time. It achieved an advanced position for Arab Universities with the QS Arab Region University Rankings over the past two years. In the 2018/ 2019 rankings, ASU ranked 45th Place in the QS Arab Region, while in the 2019/ 2020 rankings it advanced to 37th Place and became the only University in the Kingdom of Bahrain to receive four stars. ASU’s March was toward academic excellence has also seen the University earn its Institutional Accreditation from the Higher Education Council, and seen it complete its institutional review by the Education and Training Quality Authority. The University has become an Accredited Centre by the Higher Education Academy (HEA), United Kingdom with 65+ recognised faculty members as Fellows, Senior and Principal Fellows of the HE; and also achieving the RICI Certified Management Systems for Educational Organisation ISO 21001:2018 and the ISO 9001:2015 for Quality Management. Overall, these achievements are overall, considered among the most significant in ASU’s history and confirm its reputation as a world-class institution of Higher Education.

Prof Waheeb Al Khaja, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, affirmed that ASU is determined to develop its academic system, performance and educational outputs. Prof Waheeb Al Khaja also offered sincere appreciation to HE Dr Majid bin Ali Al-Nuaimi, Minister of Education, Chairman of the Higher Education

Council, the Higher Education Council Members and the Secretariat General of the Higher Education Council for their great efforts in developing and supporting education in the Kingdom of Bahrain to make it a Regional Education Hub.

Prof Ghassan Aouad, President of the University, stated that the latest QS World University ranking was a major milestone in the its march towards excellence. The distinction made Applied Science University one of the best international Universities in efficiency and competitive success. Prof Aouad also indicated that the QS World University Rankings depends on a set of criteria to evaluate the participating Universities in terms of educational and research aspects, the University's impact locally and globally, the academic reputation of the University, the reputation of its graduates in the labour market and the percentage of Faculty Members to students. Moreover, Prof Aouad mentioned that ASU achieved impressive results in all of the evaluation criteria. The strengths and distinguished academic reputation have enabled it to occupy this advanced international ranking.

Echoing Prof Aouad's sentiments, Dr Mohammed Yousif, Vice President of Administration, Finance and Community Engagement stated that the University's outstanding international recognition emphasises the quality of the ASU's educational outputs and reflects a bright image of education in the Kingdom of Bahrain.
