Message from the Chairman of the Board of Trustees

Welcome to Applied Science University's Community Engagement Booklet for the academic year 2021/2022.

This was the last year of the Covid-19 Pandemic era, and we are now very excited to get ready to go back to face-to-face learning starting from the first semester 2022/2023.

But for the academic year 2021/2022, and despite all the challenges, Community Engagement, which is the 3rd pillar and strategic objective of our strategic plan 2020-2025, was very successful with many notable achievements and accomplishments. Indeed, the University continued to play its important role to give back to society, engage youth in a meaningful way, and help the community overcome the hardships caused by the pandemic.

For example, using a blended approach where online solutions are used along with physical attendance whenever possible, ASU continued its efforts in delivering awareness workshops and training sessions for the community on important topics. For example, in an era where e-commerce and online businesses grew spectacularly thanks to Covid, so did the cases of “Internet Fraud”. Therefore, ASU raised awareness about this issue to the local community and organized a session on how to detect such malpractices and avoid getting frauded online.

The University also sustained its collaboration with its partners such as the General Secretariat of the Council of Representatives, the Center of Parliamentary Training and Studies, the Ministry of Justice, Islamic Affairs and Endowments, and the General Secretariat of the Shura Council (among others) to deliver key capacity building sessions to their staff and affiliates on modern and relevant topics to help improve their skills and performance.

The University also continued its important charitable work with community-based organizations such as Ataa Individual Social Responsibility Society and Al Eker Charity Association. And for all its efforts, the University was honored by the Capital Governorate, where HE Mr. Hassan Abdullah Al Madani, Deputy Governor, thanked ASU for its participation in the Capital Governorate’s document for volunteer work in its 3rd edition.

The Community Engagement Booklet for AY 2021/2022 will give you more details about our various activities, and I wish you all a happy reading.

Warm Regards,
Prof. Waheeb Ahmed Al Khaja
Chairman of the Board of Trustees

Message from the President

Welcome to the annual Booklet for Community Engagement activities at Applied Science University for the academic year 2021/2022.

Community Engagement is one of the three strategic pillars of ASU, alongside Teaching & Learning and Research. From its inception, the University gave utmost importance to community service and social responsibility because we strongly believe that higher education institutions have a major role to play in lifting up communities, giving back to societies, and empowering both individuals and collectivities. This is also perfectly in line with our “Graduate Attributes” as we aim to graduate students who are “ethically and socially responsible, understanding their social responsibility and good citizenship, and engaging with their community”.

In the face of Covid-19 pandemic, our commitment to community engagement has not faltered, nor did we alter our plans. We rather adapted to the “new normal” by moving most of our activities online, just like we did with our teaching and learning activities. If anything, the pandemic brought about more solidarity within our society, made people come together to help each other, and strengthened the feelings and values of unity and altruism among the Bahraini people.

I must admit though that 2021/2022 was a challenging year, but also a rewarding one, where the University achieved many accomplishments on various fronts, including community engagement. I am also particularly proud of the University's generous donation of 30,000 BHD to the campaign "Feena Kheir" through its Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Professor Waheeb Alkhaja, whom I take this opportunity to thank and praise for his grand vision and strong commitment and support to all community engagement activities at the University.

I also take this opportunity to thank Dr. Mohammed Yousif, Vice President for Administration, Finance and Community Engagement, and Dr. Mohammad Al-Hamami, Office Manager of Community Engagement, for their tireless efforts to implement the planned community engagement activities despite the hurdles and challenges of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Please keep reading to learn more about our community engagement activities for the academic year 2021/2022 as they are detailed in this booklet, and I do hope that you find it inspiring.

Happy Reading,
Prof. Ghassan Fouad Aouad
President of the University

Message from the VP for Administration, Finance and Community Engagement

Welcome to Applied Science University's Community Engagement Booklet for the academic year 2021/2022.

It is my great pleasure to be introducing ASU's Community Engagement Booklet for the Academic Year 2021/2022. I hope you enjoy reading it and hope you benefit from knowing how to engage and serve the community yourself. Despite the challenges imposed by the Covid 19 pandemic, our response was to remain committed to serving our community, students and our staff. At this time, our team at the Community Engagement Office is proactively pivoting its efforts toward online engagement to ensure that the office activities are sustainable for both students and community. The Community Engagement Office at ASU has initiated many successful activities throughout the year taking advantage of the technological advancement within the university that enabled the office outreach the community.

It is also important to highlight that Community Engagement is one of the three strategic pillars of ASU, alongside Teaching & Learning and Research which is also evident by the university strong belief in lifting up the society through the activities initiated by the office.

I also take this opportunity to thank Prof. Ghassan Aouad, the university President, and Prof. Waheeb AlKhaja, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, for their support to the office.

Best Wishes,

Dr. Mohammed Yousif

VP for Administration, Finance and Community Engagement
