

The English Language Placement Test is conducted during the first week of the semester the student got admitted in.