

The first day for admission for any given semester is provided in the academic calendar for the previous semester. These calendars can be obtained from the registration department or from the university's website.